Excerpt: . . . quite as much as numbers and wealth. We in our day fought a great battle that unity should be maintained, that liberty should be universal, and that justice should not be at the mercy of the disaffected. Now our flag is universally respected because it is the true emblem of the power of a united people, and because it represents principles that are dear to all mankind. All may come and show its advantages, and none should fear it unless they attempt to trample on the principles of universal justice. Let us cherish the memories of the past, and resolve, each in his own sphere, to uphold the right as we see it, and the blue of our flag, studded with stars, will be as the firmament of heaven, and the stripes symbolic of the suns glory, as he sets in the summers horizon of the west. MUSIC. Sevexrn ToAsT: -- Tze A1-mies qf the United States-- Past and Present. GENTLEMEN OF THE ARMY OF THE TENNESSEE: --Tl1 response to this sentiment gives a wide field to thought. The history of the republic in its early life opens again its pages. The records of the trials in which the founders of the nation fought for the right, and, in the face of death, toiled through disaster until peace crowned their work, are told to us again as they were read among our childhoods teachings. The struggles of the revolution--the victory which gave a name to...
