Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Autobiography of George Tait: A Deaf Mute, Who First Gave Instructions to the Deaf and Dumb in the City of Halifax; Also an Extract From an American Paper on Teachers and Modes of Teaching the Deaf and Dumb I, George Tait, in accordance with the wishes of some of my friends, proceed to write a brief history of my past life; and my sincere desire is to make the book sufficiently interesting to awaken within the bosoms of any who may read it, an interest in the children of silence. To begin my history where my life began, I shall invite my reader to travel in imagination far across the broad Atlantic, to the heathery hills of Auld Scotland, where the kilted lads are born, and visit the haunts of my early childhood. I was born in Caithness Shire, Scotland, in the year 1828. My father was a farmer, and consequently a thatched cottage and broad green fields form the associations of my earliest remembrance. As there were no fences inclosing my father s farm, it was necessary that the cows and sheep should be herded, and as I was the eldest son and at that time the only one old enough to perform such a task, I was installed as herdsman; a position which I, however, looked upon with no very favourable eye. Ah! I can well remember the horror with which I looked upon those long wearisome hours of dreary watching and herding. How I used to long for the sun to go down, which was the welcome signal for me to return home with my charge. Had I been able to read...
